THE INTERNATIONAL COACHING ENRICHMENT CERTIFICATE PROGRAM (ICECP) has been received with much enthusiasm amongst NOCs and more than 363 participating coaches representing 116 countries from all five continents and 33 sports. Celebrating the success of the past editions of the ICECP, we are looking forward to launching the thirteenth edition in partnership with Olympic Solidarity and the University of Delaware.

While the United States has a long history of serving and supporting the Olympic Movement, we have made a renewed commitment to sharing our resources, expanding our international partnerships and extending a welcoming hand to the world. We are honored to be able to be involved with a program that contributes to the Olympic Movement’s greatest asset—its human capital. Through the ICECP program we are not only training coaches, but we are touching individuals and supporting their human development as well as developing friendships worldwide. With 87 nations having won a medal in Rio de Janeiro, this shared international partnership is one of the Olympic Movement’s greatest strengths.

Partnering with Olympic Solidarity gives us the opportunity to provide coaches with world-class training opportunities to improve their knowledge and expertise. This is of particular importance given the demands placed on coaches today. Coaches are expected to be leaders and to stay abreast of the latest technical methods of their sport, as well as incorporate within the training of their athletes the use of physiology, nutrition, psychology, strength and conditioning, video technology (among others). The value of a coach with enhanced leadership skills, educated on the application of the sport sciences, and possessing the technical knowledge for their sport is of the greatest value to the development of athletes. Another important component of the ICECP program includes SafeSport awareness and abuse prevention training, to include: bullying, harassment, hazing, physical abuse, emotional abuse, and sexual misconduct and abuse.

The ICECP will provide national level coaches with enhanced coaching and leadership skills and the latest coaching principles from national level professionals from the University of Delaware, and from USOPC coaching and performance experts. In fact, those interested in becoming familiarized with the latest information in the area of Olympic coaching education in the United States are invited to view the Olympic and Paralympic Coach magazines on the following link on our website: https://www.teamusa.org/About-the-USOPC/Programs/Coaching-Education/Coach-E-Magazine

On behalf of the U.S. Olympic and Paralympic Committee, we look forward to welcoming coaches from around the world to our Olympic and Paralympic Training Center and headquarters in Colorado Springs.
