Healing in Family Court: Promoting Healthy Development for Maltreated Infants and Toddlers

On any given day, nearly 1,000 children in Delaware are living in foster care – a third of them are younger than 5 years of age. These children have suffered abuse and/or neglect, and the removal from their families further traumatizes them. The Family Court of Delaware invites you to explore new approaches to helping the youngest of these children to heal.

Friday June 13, 2008
Sheraton Dover Hotel
[ www.sheratondover.com ]

8:30 a.m.-9:00 a.m. Registration

9:00 a.m. Welcome
The Honorable Chandlee Johnson Kuhn,
Chief Judge of the Family Court of Delaware

9:15 a.m. Infants and Toddlers in Dependency and Neglect Cases
The presenters will review research and findings that shaped programs in Florida, including Infant Parent Psycho Therapy and Parenting Collaboration in the Community.
The Honorable Cindy S. Lederman
Joy D. Osofsky, Ph.D

12:30 p.m.-1:30 p.m. Lunch and Discussion

1:30 p.m. A Local Perspective: Infant Caregiver Project
This study, and the resulting training program help foster parents to better meet the needs of young children in foster care in Delaware
Mary Dozier, Ph.D

2:45 p.m. Closing Remarks

Registration will be accepted through May 30, 2008

With Special Guest Speakers:

The Honorable Cindy S. Lederman
Presiding Judge of Juvenile Court
Miami-Dade County, Florida

Joy D. Osofsky, Ph.D.
Professor of Pediatrics and Psychiatry
Louisiana State University Health Sciences Center

Mary Dozier, Ph.D.
Professor of Psychology
University of Delaware

Name: _____________________________________________________
Company:  _____________________________________________________
Address:  _____________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________
Phone:  _____________________________________________________
Email Address*: _____________________________________________________

*Email address needed for confirmation of registration.

☐ I am a Delaware Attorney and would like to receive CLE Credits (4.25 General)

This is a FREE conference.