First Annual Gala

Sponsorship Opportunities

The new Health Sciences Complex, to be built on the University's Science and Technology Campus, will include space for inter-professional healthcare training programs, core laboratories for collaborative interdisciplinary research, and clinics that provide convenient on-site care while also serving as a training ground for students, a venue to collect data for research projects, and a connection to the community. It will take many players working in partnership to realize the vision for the site, and we invite you to partner with us as we work to develop and realize this vision.
