

Congratulations to our five 2017 DRI Summer Scholars!

These five students will be working with faculty members in their labs for ten intensive weeks to enhance their research experience here at UD!

A special thank you to the faculty that will be working with these students!

Riley Curtin, a Biomedical Engineering under graduate student will be working with Dr. Tom Buchanan, George W. Laird Professor, Mechanical Engineering, Interim Chair of Biomedical Engineering and the Director of Delaware Rehabilitation Institute.

Kimberly Hanchett, an Exercise Science under graduate student will be working with Dr. Karin Gravare Silbernagel, Assistant Professor in the Department of Physical Therapy.

Michael Considine, a Mechanical Engineering under graduate student will be working with Dr. Liyun Wang, Associate Professor in Mechanical Engineering.

Sejal Shan, a Biomedical Engineering under graduate student will be working with Dr. Christopher Price, Assistant Professor in Biomedical Engineering.

Brianna Hulbert, a Biomedical Engineering under graduate student will be working with Dr. Christopher Price, Assistant Professor in Biomedical Engineering.