Tour of the UD Web Refresh

David Barczak
Office of Communications & Marketing
July 22, 2008
UD delegation concludes China visit in Shanghai

A delegation of University of Delaware faculty and administrators, led by President Patrick Harker, concluded a visit to China this week in Shanghai with meetings at Shanghai Jiao Tong University (SJTU) and East China Normal University (ECNU).

Read More >>

- Dean's and grad lists posted online
- Portion of East Park Place closed Monday and Tuesday
- UD helps Georgetown plan its economic future
- Debra Reese named director of Procurement Services
- Prof honored for lifetime contributions to psychology

More News... Subscribe to UDaily

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

In a rapid follow-up to their achievement as the first to demonstrate how an electron's spin can be electrically injected, controlled and detected in silicon, electrical engineers from the UD and Cambridge NanoTech now show that this quantum property can be transported a marathon distance in monoelectrons.

Read More
UD delegation concludes China visit in Shanghai

A delegation of University of Delaware faculty and administrators, led by President Patrick Harker, concluded a visit to China this week in Shanghai with meetings at Shanghai Jiao Tong University (SJTU) and East China Normal University (ECNU).

Read More >>

-Dean's and grad lists posted online
-Portion of East Park Place closed Monday and Tuesday
-UD helps Georgetown plan its economic future
-Debra Reese named director of Procurement Services
-Prof honored for lifetime contributions to psychology

More News... | Subscribe to UDaily

GET CONNECTED

University of Delaware • Newark, DE 19716 • USA • Phone: (302) 831-2792 • © 2008
Comments | Contact Us | Legal Notices
UD delegation concludes China visit in Shanghai

A delegation of University of Delaware faculty and administrators, led by President Patrick Harker, concluded a visit to China this week in Shanghai with meetings at Shanghai Jiao Tong University (SJTU) and East China Normal University (ECNU).

Read More >>

- Dean’s and grad visits posted online
- Portion of East Park Place closed Monday and Tuesday
- UD helps Georgetown plan its economic future
- Debora R. Young named director of Procurement Services
- Prof honored for lifetime contributions to psychology

More News... Subscribe to UDaily

GET CONNECTED
- UD TV
- UD Podcasts
- UD Facebook
- UD Twitter
- UD Instagram
- UD connection
UD daily
July 21, 2008 — Local Weather

TOP STORIES

UD delegation concludes China visit in Shanghai
A delegation of University of Delaware faculty and administrators, led by President Patrick弹, concluded a visit to China this week in Shanghai with meetings at Shanghai Jiao Tong University (SJTU) and East China Normal University (ECNU).

Read More >>

WHAT’S HAPPENING

- Dean’s and grad lists posted online
- UD helps Georgetown plan its economic future
- Debra Reese named director of Procurement Services
- Prof honored for lifetime contributions to psychology

More News... | Subscribe to UD daily

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

In a rapid follow-up to their achievement as the first to demonstrate how an electron’s spin can be electrically injected, controlled and detected in silicon, electrical engineers from the UD and Cambridge NanTech now show that this quantum property can be transported a marathon distance in monoelectrons.

Read More

GET CONNECTED

...
UD delegation concludes China visit in Shanghai

A delegation of University of Delaware faculty and administrators, led by President Patrick Harker, concluded a visit to China this week in Shanghai with meetings at Shanghai Jiao Tong University (SJTU) and East China Normal University (ECNU).

Read More >>

- Dean's and grad lists posted online
- Portion of East Park Place closed Monday and Tuesday
- UD helps Georgetown plan its economic future
- Debra Reese named director of Procurement Services
- Prof honored for lifetime contributions to psychology

More News... Subscribe to UDaily

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

In a rapid follow-up to their achievement as the first to demonstrably spin an electron's spin can be electrically injected, controlled and detected in silicon, electrical engineers from the UD and Cambridge Nano Tech now show that this quantum property can be transported a marathon distance in nanoelectronics.

Read More

GET CONNECTED UDDaily UDconnection
UD delegation concludes China visit in Shanghai
A delegation of University of Delaware faculty and administrators, led by President Patrick Harker, concluded a visit to China this week in Shanghai with meetings at Shanghai Jiao Tong University (SJTU) and East China Normal University (ECNU).

Read More >>

- Dean’s and grad lists posted online
- Portion of East Park Place closed Monday and Tuesday
- UD helps Georgetown plan its economic future
- Debra Reese named director of Procurement Services
- Prof honored for lifetime contributions to psychology

More News...  Subscribe to UDaily

GET CONNECTED  Mobile  Podcast  UDConnection

IN THE SPOTLIGHT
In a rapid follow-up to their achievement as the first to demonstrate how an electron spin can be electrically injected, controlled and detected in silicon, electrical engineers from the UD and Cambridge NanoTech now show that this quantum property can be transported a marathon distance in monoelectronics.

Read More
Coming August 1