Folk music is music of the people, and so we sing a wide variety of songs. Ideas for songs are shared and some semesters there is a theme, but for most there is not. Some class members may bring an instrument which they already know how to play, such as a guitar, banjo, dulcimer, recorder, violin or percussion instruments to accompany the folk songs, whereas others may just bring their vocal chords. The class members have fun singing together as we rehearse for gigs to be performed toward the end of each semester at various venues in the community like nursing homes or senior citizen groups as part of the Osher UD LLL Outreach program, as well as in our Lobby. The ability to read music is not required. Often the music that we work from just has words and chords, or we may learn a folk song by listening to a CD. The underlying spirit of camaraderie and the shared love of singing make the class a fun experience for all.
