This award was established in recognition of President Emeritus E. Arthur Trabant's support for women's equity at the University of Delaware. This award is given annually to any individual, department, administrative unit, or committee that has contributed to equity for women at the University through exemplary programming or curricula, implementing innovative policies and procedures related to women's equity, or enhancing existing services to women. The recipient is honored at an annual luncheon. "Contributions" is defined broadly to encourage a wide range of nominations as possible (i.e. developing exemplary programs or curricula, implementing policies procedures related to women's equity and enhancing existing services to women.)
