

BROWN BAG LUNCH SERIES, SPRING 2013

The Department of Black American Studies Brown Bag Lecture Series is happy to present the following speakers for spring semester 2013:

Thursday, February 28, 7:00-9:00pm in Trabant University Center Multipurpose Rooms A & B: "The People's Report: The Link Between Structural Inequality and Physical Violence in Wilmington, Delaware," Dr. Yasser A. Payne, Associate Professor, Black American Studies, University of Delaware.

Thursday, March 14, 12:20-1:10pm in 203 Munroe Hall: "Choreopoetry and the Art of African American History," Dr. P. Gabrielle Foreman, Professor, English and Black American Studies, University of Delaware, and Dr. Lynnette Y. Overby, Professor, Theatre, University of Delaware.

Monday, April 8, 12:20-1:10pm in 203 Munroe Hall: "Jim Crow in Camouflage: Militarism and the Endless Perpetuation of America's Drug War in Impoverished African-American Communities," Dr. Benjamin D. Fleury-Steiner, Associate Professor of Sociology and Black American Studies, University of Delaware.

Monday, May 13, 12:20-1:10pm in 203 Munroe Hall: "Letters to Ms. Em: Transforming a Life Through Literacy and Love," Ms. Emlyn Q. DeGannes, MeJah Books, Inc., ANU Direction Publishing, Claymont, Delaware.

The Brown Bag Lecture Series is free and open to the public. Lectures will be held from 12:20-1:10pm in room 203 Munroe Hall (unless otherwise noted). Each lecture is about 30 minutes and is followed by open discussion. Participants are welcome to bring their lunch and enjoy this vibrant and stimulating exchange of ideas.

For more information on the series, please call the Black American Studies Department at (302) 831-2897.

Black American Studies
UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

