Before applying for a reconsideration of residency classification, please review the following questions.

1. Have you resided in a state other than Delaware for any period of time over the last 12 consecutive months?
2. Did you move to Delaware primarily to enroll in a Delaware post-secondary institution?
3. Were you enrolled full-time in an academic program at an educational institution in another state and charged the in-state tuition rate last semester?
4. Have you been considered an in-state resident at another institution outside of Delaware for the purpose of tuition and fees within the past 12 months?
5. Do you receive any type of scholarship, guaranteed loan, grant, or other form of financial assistance that depends on residing in a state other than Delaware?
6. Are you a non-citizen on a student or other temporary visa, or in the U.S. for a stay of short duration with the intention or legal requirement to return to the country of your former residence?

If you answered yes to any one of these, you would not be eligible for a reclassification of residency. If you answered no to all questions, you are not automatically qualified for a reclassification but may submit an application for consideration.
