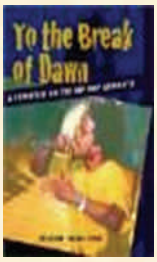
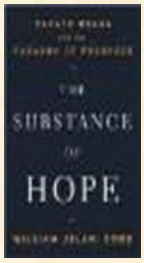
BLACK HISTORY MONTH LECTURE

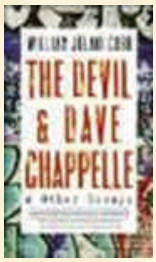
Struggles for Black Freedom in the 21st Century

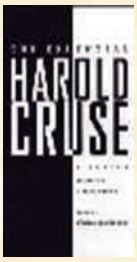
featuring

Dr. William Jelani Cobb









Dr. William Jelani Cobb, Associate Professor of History and Director of the Africana Studies Institute at the University of Connecticut, specializes in post-Civil War African American history, 20th century American politics and the history of the Cold War.

Professor Cobb's forthcoming book is titled Antidote to Revolution: African American Anticommunism and the Struggle for Civil Rights, 1931-1957. His articles and essays have appeared in the Daily Beast, the Washington Post, Essence, Vibe, The Progressive, and TheRoot.com. He has also been a featured commentator on MSNBC, National Public Radio, CNN, Al-Jazeera, CBS News and a number of other national broadcast outlets. Dr. Cobb has been a contributor to The New Yorker and newyorker.com since 2013.

Thursday, February 26, 2015 @ 7:00pm

University of Delaware

Trabant University Center Multipurpose Rooms

Hosted by the Department of Black American Studies

Sponsors: College of Arts & Sciences, Vice Provost for Diversity, University Museums, Center for Black Culture, Center for the Study of Diversity, Departments of History, Political Science, Public Policy & Administration